Japanese Task Force Is Thwarted in Efforts To Supply Munda Garrison

United States Navy Scores Another Smashing Victory; Enemy Cruiser and Three Destroyers Definitely Sunk; Ground Troops Move Up Cautiously against Garrison at Munda

By MURLIN SPENCER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Wednesday, July 14 (AP)—With a Japanese task force thwarted in efforts to supply the beleaguered garrison at Munda and sent fleeing to the north, American ground troops on New Georgia have moved up cautiously against the enemy air base and met "stiffening resistance."

Today's communique confirmed that the second battle of the Kula gulf, which occurred in the darkness of Monday night and early Tuesday, was another smashing United States Naval victory with an enemy cruiser and three destroyers definitely sunk and two other enemy destroyers probably sunk. Our warships intercepted the enemy units and forced them to break off the engagement. There was no mention of any United States losses.

Ground Forces Advance
The advance of our ground forces against Munda is continuing despite stiffening enemy resistance," reported the latest communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.
On New Georgia above and below Munda, the American invasion forces took a toll of 3,000 Japanese. A checkup on the previously reported destruction of an enemy garrison on the Enogai inlet ten miles southeast of Munda showed 150 killed. Many others were wounded and heavy artillery and machine guns were captured.
Below New Georgia, near Vanuatu island which the Americans captured early in the current operations, "our surface craft and shore parties on the northeast coast destroyed three enemy barges containing 150 troops," the communique said.
Upon Munda itself, the United States air force kept up its daily series of attacks. In the latest reported today, torpedo and dive bombers struck at anti-aircraft positions and enemy camps with thirty-two tons of heavy explosives. Above New Georgia, Japan's air force and group was blasted twenty-two tons of bombs and near (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Dr. L. F. Barker, Noted Eugenics Authority, Dies

Professor Emeritus of Medicine at Hopkins Wrote Several Books
BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—Dr. Lewis Franklin Barker, 76, professor emeritus of medicine at the Johns Hopkins university, died today.

An internationally known authority on eugenics, heredity and neurology, Dr. Barker gained fame for his work assisting in stamping out typhoid plague in the Philippines in 1909 and in San Francisco in 1911.
Dr. Barker had been in ill health for a year and had been completely inactive the last six weeks.
A native of Norwich, Ontario, Canada, he was educated at Pickering college, the University of Toronto, and in universities in Leipzig, Munich and Berlin.
The author of a number of medical books, he had held presidencies of many leading medical organizations. He read many papers before medical groups throughout the world.
Toured Europe in 1931

INVASION IS BEGUN ON SICILY'S SHORE

A GROUP OF INVASION landing boats comes to the shore of the Italian island of Sicily and disgorging their cargo of fighting men and material on the beach. This picture was radioed from Algiers by the United States Army Signal Corps.

Sicilian Battle In 'Second Phase', Axis Radio Says

Both Berlin and Rome Agree That Main Battle Is Coming

By GORDON TAIT
LONDON, July 13 (AP)—The Berlin radio said today that "the second phase" of the battle for Sicily has begun and the Axis is out to annihilate the invaders.
The radio called this phase "much more dangerous for the attackers" and added "it remains to be seen how far their strong naval concentrations will be able to relieve the strain during the next few days of heavy fighting."

Both Berlin and Rome agreed that the main battle is coming and predicted the Allies would meet earnest opposition.
Guenter Weber, a Transoceanic war correspondent, quoted in a Berlin broadcast, said that both sides are "still wounding up their forces."

Gayda Takes Same View
The Axis troops, he said, have entrenched themselves outside the range of the Allied naval artillery and have the advantage of an inner fighting line.

Weber described the struggle for Sicily as a struggle for a water-fortress and conceded that the Allies had overcome the first impediment. The initial success was anticipated by the Axis high command, he said, and the Allies were now up against the inner defense walls.

Virginia Gayda, authoritative Italian commentator, took the same view in his newspaper Il Giornale D'Italia.

"Of course, we are only in the beginning of a great battle; extremely fierce fighting, the outcome of which will change from time to time, awaits the Axis forces as well as the enemy," he said.

Other Landings Hinted

Landing forces have been beaten back from the interior everywhere, Gayda said, and were merely moving along the coast under the protection of naval artillery.

The German radio military commentator, Capt. Ludwig Stortius, hinted at possible new Allied attacks against Southern Europe with forces "perhaps stronger than landed on Sicily."

Unconfirmed Report Says Rommel Shot Down in Sicily

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—A roundabout and wholly unconfirmed report said tonight that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was shot down by Allied fighter pilots on his way to Sicily Tuesday. There has been no Allied claim of such an incident.

The report was said to have originated with the German underground radio station "Atlantic," which was quoted by the Swedish newspaper Svenska Dagbladet. The Swedish report was sent to London by a Reuters correspondent.

According to this version, Rommel was said to have been traveling in a transport plane under a strong fighter escort enroute to Sicily to take command there. He was said to have been accompanied by Gen. Siegfried Westfals, Lieut.-Col. Kiehl and three Italian staff officers.

French Island Of Martinique Joins Allies

French National Committee of Liberation Takes Over Control
WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Martinique, long suspect as a weak link in the American defense arc of the Caribbean because of Vichy French domination, joined the anti-Axis lineup today with announcement that the French National Committee of Liberation had taken control.

The State department announced that Henri Hoppenot, of the French military mission in Washington, has been appointed by the committee, headed jointly by Generals Henri Giraud and Charles De Gaulle, to succeed Admiral Georges Robert as French high commissioner for the Antilles.

He was expected to arrive in the island capital of Fort de France tomorrow, Bastille day, and make the French national holiday the occasion of his assumption of authority.

Will Assist Allies

Admiral Robert, who radioed an offer to negotiate a change of authority two weeks ago, had "expressed a desire to relinquish his authority," the State department announced.

British Bombers Smash at Turin In Heavy Attack

Called Heaviest Made on Italy by Planes Based in England
By BLAKE SULLIVAN
LONDON, July 13 (AP)—A strong force of British planes flew through vile weather across the Alps last night to bomb the North Italian industrial city of Turin in a "heavy and concentrated attack, timed with incessant blows against Sicily on the southern end of the Peninsula."

The air ministry said the assault by RAF Lancaster bombers was the heaviest yet made on any objective in Italy by planes operating from bases in Britain and that it intervened in the Sicilian campaign.

The bombing, carried out in the face of enemy defenses described officially as "weak," was both "concentrated and effective," the air ministry news service said.

This war-ridden Italy was under aerial siege from three sides.
The big black bombers of the RAF flew in from England. They struck a few hours after 100 United States Liberators from the Middle East had cast 650,000 pounds of bombs on Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni in the South, ferry terminals for invaded Sicily. The big Italian island itself was under air attack from planes based on French Africa.

The RAF lost thirteen bombers, the air ministry announced today. Bad weather on both legs of the 2,000-mile, circuitous round trip appeared to have been more perilous than the Axis defenses. A Bern, Switzerland, dispatch said two bombers crashed in the Swiss Alps.

The bombers made an unusual maneuver in returning home, swinging far out to the west to cross up hunking German night fighters on the direct route to Turin. That added (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Germany To Keep Troops at Home, Morocco Reports

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—The Morocco radio, quoting Turkish circles, said tonight that the Germans apparently have no intention of sending further reinforcements to Italy but instead will concentrate their forces on frontiers likely to be threatened after Italy is defeated.

Reports from Istanbul, the radio added, also said that the entire civilian population of the island of Crete has been evacuated by the Germans.

Swift Knockout Of Axis Troops In Sicily Seen

Drive across Supply Line Running through Messina May Turn Trick
By LEWIS HAWKINS
LONDON, July 13 (AP)—While the combined Allied forces bit deeper into Southeastern Sicily, fresh British landings near Catania brought into sharp focus tonight the attackers' chance for a swift knockout of the island's defenders by a drive across a vital supply line running through Messina.

Given a foothold on the plain of Catania, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's men might cut northwest across it to the Tyrrhenian sea, which is only about thirty-five miles from the Western edge of the plain.

An alternative route directly up the coast to Messina leads along a narrow coastal strip between Mount Etna and the Mediterranean, which is probably easy to defend but which might be a feasible path, with close support from the sea, if the enemy's air strength were beaten down sufficiently. Given such conditions, additional landings might be made along the coast between Catania and Messina to take defense posts in the rear.

Enemy Air Arm Crippled

More immediate fruits of a drive into the Catanian plain would be a knockout of the island's greatest collection of air fields around Gerbini, about fifteen miles in from the East coast.

With this threat to the Gerbini fields developing and with Americans and Canadians perhaps already taking over Comiso field near jointly captured Ragusa, the enemy's already crippled air arm seemed approaching paralysis in the eastern and southeastern part of the island.

An RAF observer noted that enemy fields around Marsala were too far away to be effective bases for fighter operations against any sector of the Allied front except the left flank of the American forces at Licata and Gela.

The importance of the Catanian plain and its suitability for use by armored forces raised the possibility it might become the scene of a major battle which London observers have been expecting hourly.

The Licata plain in the American-held area similarly seemed a likely spot for a major test and there were indications that fighting is already stiff there.

Axis Supply Ships Sunk

With Allied sea and air power cutting off all island approaches except the narrow strait at Messina, any breaking of this supply line was seen in London as likely to seal the doom of the defending armies—perhaps within a few days after the artery were cut.

The Axis made claims that the defense forces were plentifully supplied, but this apparently was belied by reports that Allied airmen were sinking ships making desperate efforts to reach the island.

In another alternative to the northward thrust toward the Tyrrhenian sea, Montgomery might wheel forces southwest from the Catanian plain for a junction with Gen. Patton and the Canadians, crushing Axis units in the southeast between two arms of an offensive.

Expansion of the Allied belt of occupation to a depth of more than twenty-five miles in some places and the junction of American and Canadian forces without a major counterattack was seen in some London quarters as an indication that the defending command has abandoned hope of wiping out the bridgeheads, at least in the extreme southeast, and is preparing to stake hopes on their inland defensive positions.

New United Nations Agency To Spur Food Output Is Being Considered

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The United Nations creation of a joint body to mobilize the agricultural resources of all to swell the amount of food available for increasing war and relief needs, and also develop production strategically so that a minimum of transportation will be required.

The idea, advanced by a food study group, is under consideration by the administration. It is based on the premise that the United Nations are not now holding their own in food production, and that the United States cannot alone make up the prospective deficit even though it hopes for a record harvest next year.

The United States' 1944 food planning goal was set by Food Administration (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Allies Take Five More Towns in Swift Invasion; Americans Stop Germans

Florida and Palazzolo Fall to British and Canadians in Drive Inland from Captured Syracuse To Join United States Troops; Americans Knock Out Ten Tanks in Clash with Nazis
By RELMAN MORIN
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 13 (AP)—British troops swarmed ashore today near Catania, midway up the Eastern Sicilian coast toward Messina, and also captured the port of Augusta, while the crack Hermann Goering division tried to halt spreading American gains on the Allied left flank to the southwest.

Altogether the Allies captured five more towns today for a total of fifteen in their swift invasion; behind them supply troops were bringing food for Sicilians.

Rushing from the interior to stiffen Italy's Fourth Livorno division, Goering's troops collided for the first time in force with the Americans under Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., Sunday near Gela.

The Americans knocked out ten old-type German Mark IV tanks and swept inland twenty miles to meet British and Canadian armies at Ragusa to form a solid junction throughout Southeastern Sicily along primary and secondary roads.

Florida and Palazzolo fell to the British and Canadians in their swift drive inland from captured Syracuse to join with the Americans.

Goering's troops were believed reforming for another slash at the Americans.

In their onrushing conquest the three Allied Armies under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower were operating with precision, fed by a flow of ships bridging the Mediterranean.

This efficiency was illustrated in an official announcement at a command post that supplies for the civilian population already had been unloaded in Sicily. Particular foods, and cigarettes which had been rationed severely under Axis rule, were among the cargoes to be distributed in the wake of Allied troops.

6,000 Prisoners Taken

More than 6,000 prisoners have been taken, including four lieutenant colonels who walked into Allied lines to surrender. Gen. Achilles Davet, commander of the Two-hundred-sixth Italian Coastal Division, also was captured—the first ranking enemy officer bagged since the invasion began last Saturday.

This would indicate sagging Italian morale, but late aerial reconnaissance reported an important flow of Axis reinforcements, presumably Germans among them from the interior. They were rushing for the American positions on the Allied left flank. Patton's troops already had knocked out one serious enemy counterattack, but not before the enemy penetrated clear to the beaches.

Japan Obligated To War on U. S., Grew Declares

Former Ambassador Warned by Jap Minister in Spring of 1941
NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew said here tonight that as early as the spring of 1941 Japan's foreign minister had warned him that if the United States got into a shooting war against Germany, "even in defense against the German submarines," Japan would be obliged to war against the United States.

"The 'shooting war' against German submarines began in September, 1941; Japan attacked at Pearl Harbor December 7."

In an address for delivery at Columbia university Grew described a conversation he had with Yosuke Matsuoka, then foreign minister, at Matsuoka's home in Tokyo in the spring of 1941. He said Matsuoka told him democracy was bankrupt and that "this is the day of the great military powers."

Matsuoka expressed the view, Grew related, that Germany would "unquestionably" win the war in Europe and that Japan would be the "stabilizing force" in the Far East.

"And then he went on to say," Grew continued, "that if the United States should get into a shooting war with Germany, even in defense against the German submarines, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Axis Confusion In Sicily Is Suggested

American and British Forces Firmly Consolidate Their Positions

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

A startling suggestion of Axis confusion in Sicily—not to say of impending military collapse—marked today's news from the fast-paced Anglo-American invasion of that island threshold of Continental Italy.

Overnight both American and British forces firmly consolidated their expanding grip on the southeast corner of the island. American and Canadian troops made a junction at Ragusa to complete an Allied line from west of Licata in the South to north of the British-captured Port of Augusta in the East. Coupled with British capture of Palazzolo junction, twelve miles long across the base of the Sicilian southeastern bulge has been completed with strong indications that its right flank may rest at Catania, gripped by new British beachheads on both sides. A double sweep into the Catania plains may have started.

Possible Routes Discussed

The mass of Axis mobile defense been reported in the Catania plains forces, German and Italian, has cutting through the center of the big island from the town of that name on the east coast to the vicinity of Porto Empedocle on the south coast, just west of the American left flank beach-head at Licata. Those flat lands, roads and rail inter-land with all parts of Sicily, have appeared the key to probable Axis defense deployment.

Any expectation that General Montgomery's British desert veterans, surging northward up the East coast beyond fallen Augusta, will push on to Messina to cut off the enemy escape route to the Italian mainland appears premature.

A look at any detailed map of the East coast of Sicily raises doubts of any such Allied objective.

A railway and a two-lane major highway run north from Catania close to the coast, paralleled by two or three narrow, one-way roads inshore. But not more than eight miles from the shore line the tremendous bastion of Mount Etna rises to towering heights, flanking a twenty mile span of the road. Allied troops would have to travel up the coast.

That stretch of the Sicilian east coast is the most densely populated section of the island. It is speckled with towns and villages, all buildings being stone and cut lava construction. Each is a potential defense strong point or machine-gun nest.

It seems clear that short of an Axis collapse, it would cost terribly in casualties to blast a way forward to Messina and the straits by that route.

Captured Fields Used

Allied bombers from captured air fields anywhere south of Catania, on the other hand, could maintain a shuttle bombing attack on the Messina route to prevent either escape or heavy reinforcement. They are already doing that from more distant bases.

It appears probable, therefore, that the British advance up the East coast, like the American northward thrusts from Licata and Gela in the center, are aimed at coming to grips with the main Axis armies in the Catania plains. Once Catania itself falls—and it may have been taken already, it could make a close-up debarcation point for a British flanking drive westward through the Catania plains as the American bridge-heads at Gela and Licata could be used to turn western approaches to that interior valley from the South.

One thing is crystal clear: the third day of the invasion, usually rated the first crucial test of amphibian assault, showed only new and critically important advances for General Eisenhower's men. They were farther beyond the beaches than had seemed possible.

The explanation is still to come. It may mean the foe is massing for a decisive fight in the Catania flatlands. It could mean that he already has written Sicily off as lost and is making only a delaying defense, relying upon his mainland fortifications for his real stand to protect the shaken Fortress of Europe.

The great Fiat Motor plant and the Caproni works presented attractive targets on this twenty-eighth bombing of Turin. Much of Italy's clothing industry also is located there.

The Italians officially acknowledged considerable damage and said 161 persons were killed and 203 injured.

Americans held the western wing buttressed at Licata and Gela, which British forces are striking along the eastern coast (dotted arrow). Latest reports say fifteen towns have now been captured.

SOLDIER TAKES BLAME FOR ROBBERIES; ASKS FREEDOM FOR PAIR

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—A soldier at Port Dix, N. J., has written Judge Eugene O'Dunne to take the blame for a series of robberies for which other men are now serving three terms in the Maryland House of Correction.

The soldier wrote that he was "going to give myself up because I don't want to see two boys do time for something I did."

"Why I give myself up is because it stays on my mind and it runs me crazy," the soldier wrote. "Please turn those two boys out. I guess that is all I have to say because I am no good to the army or anyone else. That is why I am giving myself up, so those two can come out and maybe help win the war."

Judge O'Dunne said he had answered the soldier's letter and that the matter had been referred to the state's attorney's office for investigation.

"My own thought is that when any young man is in the army, it is better for him and his country that he stay there than be in prison," Judge O'Dunne added.

The soldier gave his full name and regimental and company data. He declared that the "wrong two boys" under sentence are Robert Butler and George Johns, both negroes.

The two were tried before Judge O'Dunne in April on charges of a series of attempted burglaries of taverns and a gunfight with police occurring a week before the trial.

Dr. L. F. Barker

he succeeded the late Sir William Osler as professor of medicine at the Hopkins university and chief physician of the hospital.

Following a tour with Mrs. Barker in Europe in 1931, Dr. Barker commented upon his return that the Russian system "does not constitute a menace to the world," adding that he found conditions in Germany a much more serious international problem.

Dr. Barker was associated with Dr. Simon Flexner, of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York. In investigation of epidemics of cerebrospinal meningitis in Frostburg and Lonaconing, Md.

He often complained that people eat too fast and wonder why they break down.

He offered three simple aids — holidays, optimism and exercise — as a means of remaining fit. To ease a dangerous tax on the nervous system, he suggested holidays from the rush of modern living; optimism to lighten stress and strain; and exercise, but not too much, to keep man's physical plant working normally.

Widow Survives

Chairman of the Board of the Federal Industrial Institute for Women at Alderson, W. Va., he was also chairman of the medical council of the United States Veterans Bureau.

Dr. Barker was one of fifty-two professional and business leaders who were asked by the Senate Finance committee in 1933 to give their diagnosis of what was wrong with the country economically. He urged the discontinuance of hospitalization of veterans for injuries not incurred in the service.

He was named to the Maryland State Welfare Board when it was organized in 1923, but resigned in 1928.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Lillian Haines Halsey, of New Orleans, two sons and one daughter. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Japan Obligated

Japan would be obligated, on the basis of Article 3 of the Tripartite pact, to go to war with us."

While referring to Japan's defeat as certain and inevitable, Grew warned it might take a long time, even after Germany and Italy have been crushed.

The Japanese realize, he pointed out, that their shipping is vulnerable and that "eventually... We shall sink their ships faster than they can build. So they are busily developing their enormous Far Eastern empire to make all parts of it "so far as possible self-sustaining and independent of shipping facilities to and from the homeland."

GIRAUD SAYS FRENCH FORCES WILL FIGHT IN THE PACIFIC

WEST POINT, N. Y., July 13 (AP)—General Henri Honoré Giraud, commander of the French forces in North Africa, pledged today that "our French troops will be at your side in the Pacific until the final victory is won there also."

Giraud made the statement during ceremonies at the United States Military Academy before the monument L'Ecole Polytechnique, a statue presented to the academy by military schools in France and dedicated by Marshal Foch in 1919.

After referring to the showing of the French troops in the battle of Tunisia, Giraud said: "Tomorrow, with the weapons that you are giving us, and for which we are deeply grateful, we shall fight even better. x x x Tomorrow side by side they (British, French and American) shall liberate Europe."

After placing a wreath on the monument, General Giraud reviewed the 1,200 new cadets.

Japanese Task

Munda's supply depot at Vila on Kolombangara was raided anew.

In a far-ranging air extension from the Kai Islands in the Banda sea to Vangunu island in the Central Solomons, our air forces dropped a total bomb weight of more than 128 tons.

In Northeastern New Guinea, where Australian and American jungle fighters are infiltrating within less than twelve miles of the enemy air base of Salamaua that objective as well as the air base of Lae above it were struck with great weights of bombs.

The communiqué's report on the pincers being closed from the north and east on Munda did not specify distances but last reports placed our advanced patrols east of that air base within less than two miles of the landing strip.

Use Night Fighting Tactics

The second navy battle in the Kula gulf offered further evidence that the American Navy has taken over the night fighting tactics used by the Japanese last fall around Guadalcanal.

Compared with the naval night fighting around Guadalcanal, the situation now is reversed to some extent. Then the enemy was on the counter-offensive seeking to recapture Guadalcanal. Now he is on the defensive attempting to prevent the capture of his strategic air base at Munda on New Georgia island by landing supplies and reinforcements at Kula gulf supply depots.

The night fighting, a daring and deadly business, makes it strictly a test of ships against ships. Air support for either side is eliminated by the darkness.

At least one enemy cruiser and three destroyers were sent to the bottom in the second battle starting Monday night, preliminary reports from Admiral William F. Halsey said. Two others may have been sunk. The Tuesday communiqué said reports were still incomplete and indicated the battle was still in progress. No American losses were mentioned.

(A Japanese communiqué broadcast by the Tokyo radio claimed that their destroyers had sunk two American cruisers and set fire to another in the gulf. This was without confirmation from Allied headquarters.)

Munda Pounded Again

In the first battle of Kula gulf on the night of July 5-6 the Japanese lost from nine to eleven cruisers and destroyers. The loss of the American Cruiser Helena was acknowledged.

Both battles were fought in the narrow channel between the northern end of New Georgia and Kolombangara island, north of the Munda air base.

Munda was also pounded again yesterday by American bombers. Other Allied warplanes struck at its supply depot across the Kula gulf at Vila on Kolombangara. Kahili on Bougainville island, most important airfield of the Northern Solomons, and Rabaul, New Britain, the key enemy base of the South Pacific, were hit from the air in other important raids during a day crammed with activity.

Kansan Will Head New O. W. I. Group

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Roy Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star, was elected chairman today of the new advisory committee set up by the domestic branch of the Office of War Information (OWI).

The group, appointed immediately after Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Portland Oregonian, took over as domestic director of the war information agency, stated its conviction that "OWI does have a real function in the prosecution of the war."

It set up as its primary premises the declaration that "the American people are entitled as a right x x x to full and purely factual information concerning public events and the acts of public officials."

It asserted that dissemination of such information should be through regular media such as newspapers, trade journals, magazines, radio, and the motion pictures, and that there should be no shutting off of access to original sources of news.

13 ARE INDICTED IN NEGRO'S DEATH

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., July 13 (AP)—A federal grand jury late today indicted thirteen persons on charges of conspiracy to violate the civil rights statutes in the death of James E. Person, 33-year-old negro, last Oct. 12, 1942, near Paris, Ill.

The indictments were announced by Ray Foreman, district attorney and Frank Coleman, special assistant to Attorney-General Francis Biddle.

Those indicted were:

John Trierweiler, former sheriff of Vigo county (Indiana) and three of his deputies — James Elliott, Herbert Beasley and Pearl Miller; Edward Garwood, Kenneth Bozarth, Ernest Bozarth, Herbert Tweedy, Charles Price, all farmers of Edgar county (Illinois); Guy Morris and Martin Klado, both of Vigo county.

As announced by Foreman and Coleman, the indictments alleged these thirteen defendants circulated false suspicion and rumor concerning the alleged actions of Person and incited others against the negro, who had received an honorable discharge from the United States Army.

The indictments also alleged these acts were in disregard of his (Person) right as a human being to be free of fear and bodily harm. All these activities, the indictments said, started in Indiana and ended across the Illinois border in Edgar county where he was fired upon, wounded and died of his wounds. The body was found Nov. 26.

Contracts Are Made For Supplying Farm Materials

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 13 (AP)—The state agricultural adjustment agency awarded contracts today for supplying conservation materials to Maryland farmers complying with the AAA soil conservation and food production program.

New contracts for the last half of 1943 were necessitated by the extension of the program from July 1 to December 31, the AAA said.

Under these contracts, farmers may buy twenty per cent of superphosphate and lime products, the cost to be deducted from their AAA payments.

Contracts were granted to furnish limestone products for Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick, Montgomery, Howard, Carroll, Anne Arundel, Calvert, Charles, Prince George's and St. Mary's counties.

The six-point program outlined by Nelson follows:

1. Greater production.
2. Orderly and adequate distribution.
3. More "volume" merchandise.
4. Allocation of materials to essential needs.
5. Increased burlap imports.
6. Consumer care. An educational program to teach the public how to increase the life of garments will be launched, with the retail stores helping to instruct their customers on how to make fabrics and clothing last longer.

Allies Take

ing," Munro cabled, "the lack of determined resistance is surprising even to the divisional staff. x x x The infantry is advancing with incredible speed and it is practically impossible to keep in touch with their moves." Munro said a clash with the Germans was expected and that "stern fighting" was likely.

Modica was the fifteenth important town captured by the Allies. The new British landing near Catania was a significant development. Seizure of that port city at the southern foot of volcanic Mt. Etna would put the Allies fifty-five miles from Messina, the northeastern ferry terminus only two miles from the Italian mainland. Messina itself, and Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni on the mainland still were smoldering from heavy Allied air attacks delivered yesterday by United States Flying Fortresses and Liberators.

Capture of the once flourishing ancient Greek city also would give the Allied navies a third port through which to pour men and supplies into the drive toward Messina. Syracuse was the first harbor to fall. An official bulletin said Syracuse's dock installations apparently were undamaged.

3000 Allied Ships

(The London radio in a broadcast recorded by NBC quoted Italian sources as "admitting that Allied ships are now in the roadsteads at Catania.")

(The Berlin radio said "a much more dangerous phase for the attackers" had begun in Sicily where "German and Italian measures for the annihilation of the landed enemy units are now in full swing. Rome radio's propaganda took the same line—that Axis troops entrenched in prepared positions back from the coast would have an advantage in approaching battles.")

Three thousand Allied ships of all kinds—more than three times the 850 used in the North African landings last fall—were shuttling back and forth between Tunisia and Sicily to swell the powerful Allied striking force.

Minesweepers already have cleared the minefields on the approaches to Syracuse and Augusta which Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's desert fighters seized with the aid of a strong bombardment from the sea. Although the Canadians and British were said to be meeting some resistance "good progress is being made" up the eastern coast and inland, it was stated officially.

Palazzolo is twenty miles west of Syracuse, and Ragusa is twelve miles southwest of Palazzolo. Both are strategic prizes because these road junctions dominate a high ground in the area and deprive the Axis of much mobility.

The Americans appeared to be meeting the most stubborn opposition. They knocked out a considerable number of enemy tanks and took many prisoners in the repulse of the one counterattack which broke through to the beaches, presumably in the Gela area.

Patton's troops reformed and sealed the gap, aided by the big guns of the fleet standing out to sea. In this engagement a sizable number of Germans participated—fighting furiously, in contrast to the Italians.

Airmen Doing Fine Job

Airmen already are operating from captured fields set amid Sicily's olive groves. Aided by the great flow of strength from the rim of Africa these youthful sky fighters were doing a tremendous job of chopping holes in Axis road convoys, pulverizing supply dumps and razing airfields and ports farther inland.

Co-ordinated with these Sicilian thrusts were the "heavy and concentrated attacks" on the core of Italian communications at Messina, in Sicily, and nearby Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni on the mainland. Fighter-bomber also raked the mainland Monte and Cervino airfields.

RAF torpedo planes sank the two merchant ships and damaged the two destroyers as well as two large troop transports during the past two days.

The Nazis meanwhile started to decry the value of Sicily — an indication that they felt it eventually would be lost to the Axis.

Americans Make Three New Attacks On Kiska Base

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Three new air attacks on the Japanese base at Kiska island were reported today by the navy, and Secretary Knox left without confirmation a report that American planes ranging far west of that Aleutian outpost had struck at the enemy stronghold on Paramushiro island.

The newest raids on Kiska, Japan's only remaining position in the Aleutians, were reported in a communiqué which said that the specific objectives were the enemy's installations at North Head and the main camp areas. Results were not observed because of poor weather, the communiqué said.

The question of an operation came up at Knox's press conference today to issuance of the communiqué. A reporter said "we understand" that American planes had attacked the big base and asked Knox whether he had heard anything of such an action. The secretary replied, "Nothing that I can say." He added in response to further questions that he could neither deny or affirm the newspaper's report.

Paramushiro is at the northern end of the Kurile islands which run north from Japan. It lies 861 nautical miles west of Amchitka and about 630 nautical miles southwest of the island of Attu which Americans have retaken from the Japanese.

Dr. W. W. Goldsborough, Former State Senator, Dies in Sanitarium

PRINCETON, N. J., July 13 (AP)—Dr. William Winder Goldsborough, former Maryland state senator died today at Tenacre Foundation Sanitarium.

A brother, Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, of the United States District Court at Washington, accompanied the body to Dr. Goldsborough's home in Greensboro, Md., where it will be taken to the Rawlings funeral home.

Dr. Goldsborough was a graduate of the University of Maryland Medical school, and practiced medicine in Greensboro for most of his adult life. He was a former president of the Carolina County bank there, and served one term in the Maryland State Senate, beginning in 1905.

Survivors besides Judge Goldsborough include two other brothers and a sister.

enemy battalion was dispersed and partly wiped out and five guns disabled in another district.

After nine days' heavy fighting in which the Germans have used nearly 500,000 men and thousands of tanks, there is not the slightest indication that the Germans have gained any sizable territory. They have been unable to widen a wedge driven north of Belgorod because of constant Russian counterattacks.

As the prospect of a quick success lessens for the Germans, Berlin radio commentators now have begun suggesting that the whole drive actually was undertaken "for defensive purposes." This was the original German contention when the offensive began. After a few gains had been scored in the Belgorod area, Berlin had openly announced the Germans were beginning their third summer campaign in Russia.

The group suggested that the United Nations agency have power to assign areas, allocate production resources, and set goals which might reasonably be expected from each area.

The sub-committee reported that the United Nations food stocks have declined to a point where there is no more than a small operating reserve in any commodities except sugar and wheat—and wheat reserves will probably be depleted in the next two or three years at the present rate of consumption.

Roosevelt Says

ment would comply with the law. He did not reveal what steps the government would take if a new general walkout should start when the mines go back to private possession, but he did call attention to a provision of the Anti-Strike law requiring thirty days notice before any strike can be called in plants not in government possession. (Strikes are forbidden altogether in facilities under government operation.)

Lewis, in ordering the miners back to work on June 22 after a general work stoppage, stipulated that the truce would last until Oct. 31 if government operation of the mines continued, but would "automatically terminate" if the pits, now under the direction of Secretary of Interior Ickes, should be returned to their owners.

There was no indication tonight of the exact date on which the government will relinquish control. That, presumably, might depend on the date in which the mines resumed full production. Some of them did so a few days after the last general walkout ended but mines employing some 10,000 men in Western Pennsylvania are still idle despite the UMW's return-to-work order.

A special grand jury investigation into these strikes is to start in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

Meanwhile, an increased supply of coal for steel appeared assured today as Ickes, who is solid fuels coordinator, ordered 135,000 tons diverted to steel plants and four more mines owned by steel companies resumed operations.

Both actions were on the eve of a special grand jury investigation at Pittsburgh into strikes which last week kept idle about 18,000 miners whose production normally fires steel furnaces.

Ickes said that the diversion, at the rate of 22,500 tons daily this week, was to "relieve the growing paralysis of the steel industry due to coal mine strikes in Western Pennsylvania" and was necessary to "keep war-vital plants in production."

Four Companies Benefit

The fuel, special purpose metallurgical coals essential to steel manufacture, will go to plants of four major steel producers — Republic, Weirton, Jones and Laughlin, and Carnegie-Illinois. Ickes estimated the diversions, from sources having adequate stocks or which could use other fuels, would return all these companies' plants to full operation except Carnegie-Illinois' Clairton plant. Further efforts are being made, he said, to care for its needs.

At Pittsburgh, spokesmen for four major steel producers agreed the diversion would help relieve the fuel shortage. "It will certainly help our situation until we get our mines into full production," said a Jones and Laughlin representative.

A Weirton steel spokesman said his company particularly welcomed the move because its only captive mine sources of fuel has been down throughout the strike. Two of Republic steel's mines still are idle and coal has just started moving from four others that had been closed.

14 Mines Still Down

In addition to curtailing operations at its Clairton plant, which supplies coke-made gas to open hearth units, Carnegie-Illinois was forced to shut down twelve of its thirty-seven blast furnaces, and a spokesman said the additional coal would help get these back into operation.

The return of workers to four Jones and Laughlin mines reduced the number of idle miners to about 10,000. For the first time in three weeks there was no picketing in the Monongahela river valley.

There were fourteen mines still down or operating on a partial basis. United States Attorney Charles F. Udel disclosed at Pittsburgh that the federal grand jury would convene in special session there tomorrow to deal with the strikes.

He said the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) is conducting "an intensive investigation" into causes for continued refusal of miners to return to work.

Congressional Prohibition Is Held Political

Federal Workers Accused of Subversive Activity Would Be Denied Pay

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he does not consider binding a congressional prohibition against paying salaries to three federal employees accused by a House committee of affiliation with subversive groups.

Once the legislators come back from their recess, the president told his press-radio conference, he will tell them so in a message accusing them of usurping functions of the executive and judicial branch of the government.

The employees are Robert M. Lovett, Secretary of the Virgin Islands government, and Goodwin Watson and William E. Dodd, Jr., employed by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). The charges against them originally were made by the Dies committee.

In passing a deficiency appropriations bill, Congress inserted a rider prohibiting payment of any salary to the three men after Nov. 15, unless, meantime, their appointments to office are submitted to the Senate and confirmed.

He had signed the bill, he went on, because the funds were essential, but would not consider the rider binding.

Mr. Roosevelt already had drafted the message he intends to send to Congress and read excerpts from it. There was no suggestion, he declared, that the men had not performed their duties properly, and the basis of the rider was political.

Furthermore, he declared, it is definitely discriminatory and unconstitutional, inflicts punishment without definition of a crime, and encroaches on the executive and judicial departments.

The constitution provides, he added, still reading from his proposed message, for removal of officials by impeachment, and by that method only.

French Island

The acceptance of Hoppenot's designation by the Committee of Liberation to Algiers "for the express purpose of exercising the French authority in the Antilles," the statement said, "is not to be construed as affecting either position on the question of the government's relation" with the committee. Thus it was made clear that no formal recognition of the Algiers committee was to be implied.

"Mr. Hoppenot has assured the Government of the United States that the facilities and resources of the French Antilles will be devoted to the fullest extent to the production of the war against the Axis in accord with the action already taken by all French territory under the domination of the enemy," the announcement said.

Warships at Martinique

"The military interests of the United States in the Caribbean area are fully recognized. The use of presently immobilized French naval and merchantships will be made available in the prosecution of the war effort."

Tied up in Martinique harbor at the aircraft carrier Bearn, two light cruisers, a half dozen tankers and several other merchant ships.

Resumably added to the Allies' war chest, too, will be nearly $300,000,000 in gold taken to Martinique upon the fall of France, although the State department said nothing on that score.

Hoppenot, who has been director of civil services of the French military mission in Washington, was accompanied by assistants, one of whom presumably is Captain Robert Lambert, commander of the battleship Richelieu, who was designated to take charge of the ship.

Retired Naval Officer Accused of Adultery

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, 71-year-old retired naval officer, was given published notice today that he must show cause by Aug. 27 why his wife, who accused him of adultery, should not be granted permanent alimony.

Mrs. Adelaide Stirling, through her attorney, Isaac Lobe Straus, filed suit in circuit court asking "at least $250" monthly alimony, and Judge Eli Frank signed a show cause order of publication.

The order of publication quoted Mrs. Stirling's petition as saying her husband abandoned her early in 1935 "without just cause or provocation."

It is estimated that the United States can obtain new supplies of synthetic and natural rubber amounting to 308,000 tons in 1943.

900 Army Troops Begin Training At Maryland U

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 13 (AP)—More than 900 selected army troops from virtually everyone of the forty-eight states began an intensive special training program this week at the University of Maryland that will mean for many of them an opportunity to win an officer's commission.

Maryland is one of three schools in the state where the army specialized training program is being conducted. The others are Western Maryland college at Westminster, and Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore.

Size of the army classes apparently was limited only by accommodations, and Col. Robert E. Wyson, commandant of the University of Maryland contingent, said the class was closed until fall because there were no more facilities to take care of any more students.

The special students have just about made College Park resemble an army camp, and military regulations have replaced much of the old campus atmosphere.

Special quarters have been set aside for the soldiers, a new barracks is being constructed to accommodate future arrivals.

Civilians are not allowed to enter the area set aside for the army men, and sentries patrol the restricted zone at night.

Nevertheless, university officials headed by President H. C. Byrd say they expect the regular college classes to continue as usual with as little disturbance as possible in spite of the excitement of military goings on.

The army students march to separate classes, and follow a strict routine similar to any military post. And they'll follow a fifty-nine-hour weekly schedule that won't permit much outside activity. This schedule calls for twenty-four hours of classroom work, twenty-four hours of supervised study, six hours of physical training and five hours of military tactics.

Dealings in Stocks Are Lively As Good War News Spurs Trading

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—The generally good war news again served as a tonic for the stock market today and many leaders moved into new high ground for more than 2 years with gains of fractions to 5 points or so.

It was another selective session, however, and scattered issues failed to make much headway or slipped into minus territory. The list was irregularly upward at the start and closing prices were around the day's best. Dealings were the liveliest in nearly two months.

Bulletins from Sicily, Russia and the far Pacific, telling of further Allied successes in the drive against the Axis, were particularly helpful for stocks of companies with cheering peacetime prospects.

The Associated Press 60-stock average advanced 4 of a point to 53.1, a new top since Oct. 27, 1939. Breadth of the rise was exemplified by the fact that 928 issues were traded. Of these 522 were up, 194 down and 212 unchanged. Transfers of 1,394,110 shares compared with 1,054,120 Monday and were the largest since May 27 last.

After a long struggle the 15-rail stock composite pushed through its year's peak established last May and, up 5 of a point at 27.2, was at its highest mark since Oct. 6, 1937.

In the "new high" section were Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, Coca-Cola up 5 1/2, Pepsi-Cola (up 4), Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Consolidated Edison and the preferreds of Nickel Plate and Alleghany Corp. Well ahead were Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Home-Slake Mining, Alaska Juneau, McIntyre Porcupine, Dome, Du Pont, Goodrich, J. I. Case, J. C. Penny, Sears, Roebuck, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco and Nihl Corp.

American Car & Foundry dipped about 4 points in the forenoon on a disappointing earnings report but cut the loss to 2 1/2. On the offside were Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Westinghouse and General Electric.

Forward curb movers included Lake Shore, International Petroleum, Gulf Oil, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Pantepec and Technicolor. Turnover here was 392,720 shares versus 370,260 yesterday.

Broad buying of rail issues stepped up bond market activity near the close today with good effect on prices of corporate loans generally. Volume of $11,819,000 compared with $9,527,000 yesterday. The Associated Press rail and industrial averages advanced to new highs for the year.

American Fighter Bombers Playing Havoc with Nazis

By RELMAN MORIN

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 12 (AP)—Swooping American fighter bombers are playing havoc with Axis motorized convoys desperately rushing troops to strategic concentration areas in Sicily.

Filling the sky from dawn to dusk, the new Mustang A-36s, newest Allied air weapon, has piled roads high with the wreckage of Axis trucks speeding to dangerous points to which the Allies were driving inward from the sea. They attacked with dive-bombing and gliding tactics.

A formation led by First Lieut.

Robert W. Hafer of Bedford, Pa., dropped bombs on an estimated chain of 200 enemy trucks, then machine-gunned the entire line, leaving about 100 completely destroyed.

A compilation of pilots' reports showed Sicily was crowded with enemy troops equipped to move swiftly in trucks, armored cars, and trains and bolstered by tanks. But as was expected what the pilots found first were trucks and they bored through hailstorms of flak and small arms fire to get at the vehicles.

One unit of A36s halted their attacks for a few minutes to circle around an American pilot as he floated groundward, parachuting after flak knocked out his ship. They saw him land and sprint toward a grove of olive trees.

At the same moment the men above saw enemy troops emerge from cover and attempt to capture the pilot. The planes instantly scattered off and sent the soldiers scattering under a blizzard of bullets. The grounded flier had disappeared in bushes by that time.

Increase Likely In Canning Crops

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 13 (AP)—Mid-summer estimates of Maryland's 1943 farm production indicate an increase of seven per cent in canning crops over 1942, the state crop rotating service announced today.

In a report on field and truck crops as of July 1, the service said that this year's canning tomato crop, estimated at 72,400 acres, was the second largest in the history of the state, surpassed only by the 1918 acreage of 78,000.

In general, however, the farm crop outlook was described as variable, with the condition of most fruits below average and tobacco acreage reduced drastically because of a shortage of plants and labor.

The report stated that the state's farmers have planted about 1,673,000 acres this year.

"Total fresh market, truck crop acreages (as opposed to canning acreages) are indicated to be both below last year and the ten year average," it said, "due primarily to reductions in vine crops such as cantaloupes, cucumbers and watermelons. Indicated yields of wheat, oats and barley are generally poor, with the barley crop very disappointing in many localities."

The report added that an expected four per cent increase in corn acreage would fail to make up for the wheat and barley reductions.

The indicated grape crop is one of the smallest on record, the peach crop the smallest since 1934 and the pear crop the smallest since 1921, the service reported.

Proving unusually successful with local action fans, Republic's "Carson City Cyclone," will "pack 'em in" at the Embassy theater tomorrow. With Don "Red" Barry in the lead, the picture delivers its full quota of thrills and action, rating it well up with the best Barry has ever made on his Republic contract. Lynn Merrick plays opposite Don in the feminine lead, and Noah Beery, Sr. has the top character portrayal. Other actors include Bryant Washburn, Stuart Hamblen, Emmett Lynn, Roy Barcroft, Bud Osborne, Curly Dresden, Jack Kirk and Roy Brent.

MOVIE SPONSORS—Members of the local voiture of the Forty and Eight receive from Robert M. Cooper, Hollywood, Cal., representative of the American Theater Wing and United Artists Corporation, the film for the motion picture, "Stage Door Canteen," at brief ceremonies in city hall Monday afternoon. The local voiture is sponsoring the movie here since ninety per cent of all receipts go to the American Theater Wing which in turn sponsors stage door canteens in America and in all theaters of war where American men are fighting. All stars in the picture which opens today at the Maryland theater gave their services free. The film is being sponsored throughout the nation by the Forty and Eight. Shown in the picture (left to right), are Nat Guggenheim, Cooper, John R. Kelly, Mayor Thomas F. Conlon, Leo C. Reichert, chef de gare of the local voiture, and John A. Nierman.

FORTY AND EIGHT TO SPONSOR MOVIE, 'STAGE DOOR CANTEN'

In a brief ceremony Monday afternoon in city hall, Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight, accepted sponsorship here for showing of the motion picture, "Stage Door Canteen," from Robert M. Cooper, Hollywood, Cal., representative of the American Theater Wing and United Artists Corporation.

Forty and Eight Voitures throughout the nation are sponsoring the motion picture because most of the proceeds from the show go to the American Theater Wing which supports stage door canteens for servicemen in America and in every theater of war where American fighting men are serving.

Leo C. Reichert, chef de gare of the local voiture, accepted the picture film from Cooper as Mayor Thomas F. Conlon signed the adoption papers. Reichert said his voiture intends to do everything possible to "exploit and publicize the motion picture, "Stage Door Canteen."

Cooper said Forty and Eight Voitures are sponsoring the picture because of a morale standpoint as well as for the monetary reason. The picture, he said, shows men in service "getting together for clean, wholesome fun." It's a soldier's love story and opens today at the Maryland theater.

Weaver Brothers Are In Garden Picture

The Weaver Brothers—Leon and Frank—are starred, together with Elvira, in "Shepherds of the Ozarks," opening today at the Garden theater. There are some excellent hillbilly songs in the picture and much comedy.

A comedy with music, "Give Out, Sisters," is the co-feature on the Garden program today. Grace McDonald, Dan Dailey, Jr., Charles Butterworth, Walter Catlett, William Frawley and the Andrews Sisters are starred.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐ YES ☐ NO

Do you feel heavy, sour, upset or headachy after you eat? Is poor digestion robbing you of a lot of fun?

If you are taking soda, alkalizers or other artificial indigestion aids, perhaps that's why you don't feel better! You ought to give Nature a chance.

For medical science proves that four-fifths of all your food is digested after it leaves your stomach. Then Nature must provide about 2 pints of an alkaline digestive fluid each day to keep your food digesting properly. Otherwise it may be heavy and sour within you.

Now Carter's Little Liver Pills increase Nature's own flow of this alkaline digestive fluid—often in less than thirty minutes. It helps digestion. It neutralizes acidity. And right away you're on the way to feeling light, sweet, comfortable and clear-headed again.

Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. Take as directed. Don't depend any longer on artificial indigestion aids when Carter's helps after Nature's own order.

The Board of Civil Service Commissioners of the City of Cumberland met last evening at city hall and discussed the new merit system regulations governing all city employees with the exception of the attorney, tax collector and health officer.

All jobs created must be filled through the board effective on September 1, 1943.

City employees were placed under civil service through an act passed by the recent session of the state legislature.

Motorists Warned To Get Tires Recapped Before It's Too Late

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP) — Motorists who drive their tires beyond the point where they can be recapped may be denied tire-recap certificates on the basis that they "abused" their tires, the Maryland Office of Price Administration warned today.

Rationing officials said that anyone who abused his tires may be refused tire-recap certificates although he may qualify otherwise.

Under present regulations, motorists may have their tires recapped under ration certificates.

OPA Gives Policemen Authority To Lift Gas Ration Books

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP) — An Office of Price Administration directive issued today gives authority for policemen to lift ration books of motorists.

The new directive merely implements existing enforcement machinery, Cornelius P. Mundy, chief enforcement attorney for the state OPA, said.

"We are not going to ask the police to seize ration books," Mundy added, "but to ask for them when irregularities apparently exist."

Pennsylvania Miners Will Not Receive Unemployment Insurance

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 13 (AP) — Pennsylvania coal miners, idle approximately one month in three recent work stoppages, were denied unemployment benefits in a ruling today by William H. Chestnut, commonwealth secretary of labor and industry.

Chestnut ordered the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation to reject claims on the grounds that the miners voluntarily left their work "without good cause."

Lieut. Wheelock Outlines Observers' Activities

Lieut. Morgan D. Wheelock, Baltimore ground observer officer, gave a brief outline of the future activities of the observer posts in this section at a meeting last night of chief observers, area supervisors and district directors from Allegheny and Garrett counties.

The meeting was held in the office of Deputy United States Marshal Howard P. Loughrie, who is district director here.

Civil Service Board Discusses Merit System for City Employees

a row as he was called out by Umpire Rommel on a fast-breaking curve for which he didn't even take the bat off his shoulder. Doerr lined a single over third for his second straight hit. Newhouse attempted to sacrifice, but bounced to Vander Meer, who threw to Marion forcing Doerr and Marion relayed to Herman on first in time to catch Newhouse for a neat double play. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Fifth Inning
National—Vander Meer was called out on strikes. Hack bounced the three-two pitch down the third base line and Keltner threw him out by inches. Stephens threw out Herman by ten feet on an easy play. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

American—The umpires shifted, Dunn moving to the plate, Rue to first base, Conlon to second, Rommel to third. Case waited out a walk. Vander Meer pushed his fast one past Keltner to chalk up his fourth strikeout. Wakefield fanned on three pitches. On the hit and run, Stephens shot a single into left, sending Case to third. Catcher Cooper and Vander Meer went into a huddle. Stephens made a break for second and when Catcher Cooper threw to Herman, Case ran for the plate. Herman's throw to the plate was low for an error and as it got away from Cooper, Case scored and Stephens reached third. The official scorer credited Cooper with an assist on the play. Vander Meer fanned York for the second time and since this was his eleventh strikeout in All-Star competition it tied him with Carl Hubbell for the All-Star record. One run, one hit, one error, none left.

Sixth Inning
National—Musial poked a double down the left field line. Augie Galan, right-handed hitting outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was sent up to bat for Nicholson. Galan walked. Babe Dahlgren, of the Philadelphia Phillies, batted for Fletcher and bounced into a double play. Stephens to Doerr to York. Ernie Lombardi, New York Giants' catcher, batted for Walker Cooper and flied to Laabs in short center. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

American—Galan came into the game in left field as Musial moved to right. Lombardi replaced Walker Cooper as the catcher. Dahlgren took over at first and Truett Sewell, "dippy-doodle" specialist of the Pittsburgh Pirates who has won twelve games and lost two this season, came into pitch for the Nationals.

Laabs was safe as Hack fumbled his roller. Early sacrificed, Sewell to Dahlgren, Laabs going to second. Laabs reached third as Hack threw out Doerr. Jeff Heath, Cleveland outfielder, batted for Newhouse, and flied to center. No runs, no hits, one error, one left.

Seventh Inning
National—Tex Hugheson, tall right-hander of the Boston Red Sox with a record of nine wins and six losses this season was the new American League pitcher.

DiMaggio drove a booming triple off the left field wall, sliding safely into the bag as the throw-in hit him in the back and bounced away. Mel Ott, New York Giant manager, came in to bat for Marion. Ott worked the count to three and two, then struck out on a fast ball. Dixie Walker, 267 hitting Brooklyn outfielder, batted for Sewell and sent a low fly to left. DiMaggio scoring after the catch without much trouble. Hack bounced the second pitch through third and into left field for a single. Herman sliced a Cooper over York's finger-tips and into right for a single. Hack moving along to third. Musial hoisted a high pop-up to Keltner back of third. One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

American—Eddie Miller, Cincinnati Reds' shortstop, came into the National League infield, and Alva Javery, right-hander who has won eight games and lost eight for the Boston Braves this season, was the new senior circuit pitcher. Case fanned, swinging at a high fast ball. Keltner was called out on strikes. Wakefield drilled a single through second and into right field. Stephens fanned missing a wide curve by more than a foot. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Eighth Inning
National—Bob Johnson, Washington Senators' outfielder went into right field for the American League. Laabs raced into short center to pull down Galan's fly. The official attendance was announced as 31,938 and the gross gate as $65,174. Dahlgren bounced out, Stephens to York, on a snappy play. Laabs hauled down Lombardi's hoist to center. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

American—York drilled the first pitch over second and into center for a single. Laabs bounced into a speedy double play, Miller to Herman to Dahlgren. Herman booted Early's easy roller and the catcher was safe on the error. Galan pulled down Doerr's fly inches inside the left field line. No runs, one hit, one error, one left.

Ninth Inning
National—DiMaggio poled a powerful homerun well up into the left field stands. Miller fanned, swinging at an inside fast ball on the two-two pitch. Lonnie Frey, Cincinnati second baseman, batted for Javery and flied to Laabs in center. Hack shot a sharp single off York's glove. Herman flied to left. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

The SPORT TRAIL

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, July 13 (AP) — One thing about vacations, they are an efficient destroyer of the ego, as when a gent has been absent two weeks and returns moderately bright-eyed and enthusiastic and eager to find out everything that happened during his absence it is quite disconcerting to find his curiosity greeted with:

"What's the matter? Been away?" Which is neither here nor there as it serves as a subtle nudge to call attention to the fact we've been on leave, if nobody has noticed it.

We have been noticing things the last couple of weeks, though. Chiefly that all the fouls in baseball haven't been hit on the field. There have been enough slap verbal digs and whatnot in the past fortnight to do for an entire season, giving the impression that the baseball set is just one big, slap-happy family.

There was Luke Sewell's charge that the American League umpires gave the Yankees all the best of it for one thing. This is a serious accusation as it chops at the very roots of the game. If you think the cops on the beat are looting the strongboxes you just can't have confidence in anything, and the umpires are the baseball cops. Accusing them of favoritism is accusing them of dishonesty, and without honest umpires there would be no baseball.

Cox Aims Blast
Bill Cox, of the Phils, aimed a blast at National League Presxy Ford Frick's office after a couple of adverse rulings on protests. In effect, the Phil boss said that if he never had anything more to do with league headquarters it would suit him fine.

Cox had the good grace to apologize, saying that whatever he said he never said it, or something like that. Anyway, he wanted Frick to know it was not a personal blast. Frick just happened to be in the way.

Another Phil got himself in the news by the alley entrance. St. Johnson, whom we always have held in great respect for sticking doggedly to his pitching chores with the Phils through their floundering years, declined to be a batting practice pitcher at the All-Star game.

Aside from the fact he might have gulped his pride in view of the fact it was a charity affair, Johnson's note to Frick was unapologetically formal. He stated he regretted he couldn't be present at "your bunting and throwing party."

Now if a ballplayer, who makes his living at it, puts his profession in such a May-pole-dance category, he might have trouble arguing in its favor if necessity arose that it needed a defense. He may be right, as no sense in calling attention to the fact in such a belittling manner. The government might read it and take his word for it and rule out the game.

Johnson Made To Look Bad
Besides, St. aimed his sarcasm at the wrong target. Johnson, with a good record, was disgruntled because he wasn't chosen as a regular pitcher. But Frick didn't do the choosing. It was done by the managers. Frick thought he was doing St. a favor by inviting him to throw in batting practice.

Anyway, Johnson was made to look very bad by a couple of Giants, Mel Ott and Ace Adams. Ott modestly said he didn't deserve the honor of being chosen for the All-Stars. Adams, Giant relief pitcher, took the batting practice assignment Johnson turned down with the comment he was eager to do something for the charity cause.

So all the fun hasn't been on the ball fields the last couple of weeks. Sometimes we think the clubs would make more charging the fans to look through letter files than just to watch the teams play.

Girl Cuts Leg
Mary Jane Taylor, 12, daughter of Jacob Taylor, 514 Hill street, was treated in Allegheny hospital at 10:15 p. m. yesterday for a laceration of her right leg, suffered when she fell and struck a pipe.

Unlimited Night Baseball Granted Washington Club

Luke Sewell Apologizes for Statement Concerning Umpires

By SID FEDER
PHILADELPHIA, July 13 (AP) — Luke Sewell was sorry and Clark Griffith was happy today in a bit of baseball fireworks preceding tonight's All-Star game.

Luke apologized to the American League meeting for saying a few days ago that he thought the junky circuit umpires were giving "breaks" to the New York Yankees. Then Griffith received from the joint meeting of both leagues the long sought okay to play as many night games in Washington as he pleased for the rest of the season.

Aside from these meetings there was little to break the pre-game calm, except, of course, speculation as to whether Manager Joe McCarthy was going to know his American League lineup before the 8:45 p. m. post-time.

In addition to voting the Washington club unlimited night baseball, which may have the Nats winding up the 1943 campaign with a total of forty-two arc-light parties, the joint meeting of both circuits also set up the machinery for baseball's July 28 war relief program. This is the series of eight

American League All-Stars Defeat Rivals from National Loop, 5 to 3

Junior Circuit Wins without Single Yankee in Lineup; Doerr, DiMaggio Star

By JUDSON BAILEY
 PHILADELPHIA, July 13 (AP)—The American League wrote new words to an old tune tonight and thrashed the National League 5 to 3 in the eleventh annual All-Star baseball spectacle before a capacity crowd of 31,938.

In the previous dream games when the American league built up a big margin of seven victories to three defeats, it almost always was the New York Yankees against the "home" National League. Tonight not a single one of the American League champions got into the contest.

Doerr Hits Homer
 But they were not missed because Bobby Doerr, the smooth, silent second baseman of the Boston Red Sox, smashed a three-run homer into the lower left field stands in the second inning and to all intents and purposes decided the struggle then and there.

These runs and another in the third came off rosy-cheeked Mort Cooper, one of five of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals who started for the Senior circuit and it marked his fourth failure against American League slugging—twice in the World Series and last year in the All-Star affair at the Polo Grounds.

The National League began confidently with a run in the first inning against Emil (Dutch) Leonard, the knuckleball specialist of the Washington Senators, whose selection by Manager Joe McCarthy was somewhat of a surprise.

But after Stan Hack and Billy Herman had singled and a fly by Stan Musial had brought Hack home, Leonard buffed the Nationals until he gave way to Lefty Hal Newhouse of Detroit at the start of the fourth inning and except for Vince DiMaggio they stayed bewildered for the remainder of the struggle.

The Pittsburgh Pirate star, one of the famous DiMaggio brothers of big league fame, came into the contest in the fourth inning with a single and engineered the National League's two closing runs with a triple in the seventh and a home run in the ninth, both off Cecil (Tex) Hughson of the Boston Red Sox.

Vander Meer Stars
 Although Leonard received credit for the victory, the pitching star of the game and the favorite of the fans was Lefty Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds, who was the National League's winner in the 1938 All-Star game, the year of his double no-hit feat.

Vandy came to the rescue of Cooper with one run in, one on and one out in the third. He proceeded to strike out six and catch two in.

Grid Sport Has Been Abandoned By 200 Colleges

East and South Top List, Associated Press Survey Reveals

By ORLO ROBERTSON
 NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—With the East and South topping the list, close to 200 colleges, large and small, have abandoned football for the duration.

A nation-wide survey by the Associated Press today showed that 189 institutions of higher learning have left the drain of man power and transportation problems to such an extent that they will not attempt to play the game until after the war. A few of them dropped by the wayside a year ago but the majority have cancelled the sport this year, many of them since the army said its trainees would not have time to participate in inter-collegiate athletics.

List May Be Increased
 The list is expected to be increased considerably by the time September rolls along for many schools indicated they planned to play but actually didn't know what the situation would be until fall term starts. Others said they were holding on with the hopes that the army would change its decision regarding participation of soldiers attending college.

The survey showed sixty-one schools had dropped the sport in the East, forty-nine in the South, thirty-four in the Southwest, twenty-six in the Midwest, ten in the Rocky Mountain area and nine on the West Coast. The latter does not include California's many junior colleges, practically all of which will not field teams this fall.

While, naturally, the list is composed largely of small schools, it also includes such bulwarks of the gridiron sport as Harvard, Georgetown, Duquesne, Lafayette and the Little Three, Williams, Wesleyan and Amherst, in the East; Kentucky, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Florida, Auburn, and Tennessee of the bowl-mingled Southeastern Conference; Creighton, St. Louis and Washington university of the Missouri Valley and Baylor in the Southwest Conference.

The Eastern list included:
 Potomac State on List
 Albright, Alfred, Allegheny, American International, Amherst, Arnold, Bates, Bergen Junior (N. J.), Bloomsburg (Pa.) Teachers, Blue Ridge (Md.), Buffalo, California (Pa.) Teachers, Canisius, Concord (W. Va.), Colby, Davis and Elkins, Dickinson, Drexel, Duquesne, Georgetown, Glenville (W. Casey Ten Wallopos Celenese Tossers
 Knights of Columbus tossers, of the Rocking Chair Softball League, trimmed the Celenese Independents 11-2 in a recent game at Community park.

Casey Pitcher Joe Neubiser held the Independents to five hits. Dick Parsons, who had two of Celenese's five blows, was rapped for seventeen safeties. Madden and Paul Stakem shared swatting honors for the winners with three hits apiece.

Ernie Lombardi Grabs Headlines In Batting Race

Giant Catcher, Ineligible for First Ten, Boosts Mark to .319

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Ernie Lombardi, husky Giant catcher, grabbed the batting headlines in the National League last week. He swatted the horsehide all over the Polo Grounds to boost his average some forty points to a healthy .319.

Unfortunately big Ernie has not gone to the plate sufficient times to be included in the league's ten leading hitters. Stan Musial, of the onrushing St. Louis Cardinals, tied for third the previous week, boosted his average seven points and became the circuit's leading swat-smith with a robust .331.

Billy Herman, of Brooklyn, took over second place with .328 while Babe Dahlgren, of the Phillies, barely hung onto third place by one point over Stan Hack, of the Chicago Cubs, .323 to .322.

Frank McCormick, of Cincinnati, who topped the senior loop the previous week with .329, slumped fourteen points and dropped all the way to fifth with .315.

Lanny Frey, of Cincinnati, held on to sixth with .313 followed by Augie Galan, Brooklyn, .309; Whitey Kurowski, of the Cards, .302; Arkie Vaughan, Brooklyn, .299; and Eric Tipton, Cincinnati, .297.

Mei Ott, of the Giants, leading home run clouter, blasted two more roundtrippers to reach fourteen. Musial has hit the most triples, eleven; Herman the most doubles, twenty-three; and Musial the most runs, thirty-nine; and Herman and Vaughan have the most hits, ninety-nine, while Vaughan has scored the most runs, sixty-six, and stolen the most bases, ten.

Rip Sewell, of Pittsburgh, and Howard Krieger, of the Cards, retained the pitching lead with records of 12-2 and 7-1, respectively.

ALL-STAR GAME PLAY-BY-PLAY

First Inning

National—On the first pitch, Hack shot a single over second into center field. Herman caught Short-stop Stephens out of position and poked a single into left field, sending Hack to third. Musial sent a long fly into center field and Hack easily scored after the catch. Nicholson hit a bouncer along the first base line and Siebert threw to Stephens forcing Herman at second. Nicholson reaching first safely on the fielder's choice. Fletcher bounced out, Doerr to Siebert. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

American—Cooper's first pitch hit Case on the leg and he took first base. Keltner got a "life" when his high foul fell among Fletcher, Nicholson, and Herman along the right-field line. Then Keltner fanned, swinging at a fast ball. Herman came far over near second base to scoop up Wakefield's hot roller and toss to Marion, forcing Case. Wakefield was safe on the fielder's choice. Marion easily threw out Stephens on a fast play. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Second Inning
 National—Walker Cooper lifted a high pop-up to Doerr. Harry Walker drilled the first pitch back to the mound and was thrown out by Leonard by five feet, even though Dutch fumbled the ball for a couple of seconds. Stephens fumbled Marion's easy bouncer and Marion was safe on the error. Mort Cooper hoisted a fly to Laabs. No runs, no hits, one error, one left.

American—Siebert, the only Philadelphia player starting the game, got a big hand as he came to bat. He hit a short fly to center and Walker took it. Laabs walked. Early also walked and the National League bullpen went into action, with Max Lanier, St. Louis southpaw, and Alva Javery, Boston right-hander, starting to warm up. Doerr lifted the first pitch into the third row of the lower left field stands for a home run, scoring behind Laabs and Early. Leonard sliced a looper into right field that landed just inside the foul line for a single. Case bounced into a snappy double play, Hack to Herman to Fletcher. Hack made a running hand pickup of the bouncer to start the twinking. Three runs, two hits, no errors, none left.

Third Inning
 National—Wakefield raced over to the left fly field line to take Hack's long fly just in fair territory.

Fourth Inning
 National—Walker Cooper lifted a high pop-up to Doerr. Harry Walker drilled the first pitch back to the mound and was thrown out by Leonard by five feet, even though Dutch fumbled the ball for a couple of seconds. Stephens fumbled Marion's easy bouncer and Marion was safe on the error. Mort Cooper hoisted a fly to Laabs. No runs, no hits, one error, one left.

Fifth Inning
 National—Walker Cooper lifted a high pop-up to Doerr. Harry Walker drilled the first pitch back to the mound and was thrown out by Leonard by five feet, even though Dutch fumbled the ball for a couple of seconds. Stephens fumbled Marion's easy bouncer and Marion was safe on the error. Mort Cooper hoisted a fly to Laabs. No runs, no hits, one error, one left.

Sixth Inning
 National—Walker Cooper lifted a high pop-up to Doerr. Harry Walker drilled the first pitch back to the mound and was thrown out by Leonard by five feet, even though Dutch fumbled the ball for a couple of seconds. Stephens fumbled Marion's easy bouncer and Marion was safe on the error. Mort Cooper hoisted a fly to Laabs. No runs, no hits, one error, one left.

Seventh Inning
 National—Walker Cooper lifted a high pop-up to Doerr. Harry Walker drilled the first pitch back to the mound and was thrown out by Leonard by five feet, even though Dutch fumbled the ball for a couple of seconds. Stephens fumbled Marion's easy bouncer and Marion was safe on the error. Mort Cooper hoisted a fly to Laabs. No runs, no hits, one error, one left.

Golf Tournament Entries Reach 234

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—Entries for Tam O'Shanter's three ring golfing circuit—the all-American open, the All-American amateur open, and the Women's open—soared to a total of 234 today. The free for all will begin next Monday and run seven days, through July 25.

Breaking down the entry total, the club said that there were ninety-four pros, 121 amateurs and nineteen women. The total prize list, headed by the $10,000 open, aggregates almost $12,000 in cash and war bonds.

Byron Nelson, twice winner of the open, again is the No. 1 pro threat to this event, which carries a first prize of $2,000. And Clayton Hearner, the man who forced Nelson into a title playoff last year, also will return, a 160 of the most recent entries disclosed.

The late entries also included the veteran amateur, Gus Moreland, of leading simon pures as Frank Peoria, Ill., who will oppose such Stranahan, of Toledo, and Wilford Wehrle, of Racine, Wis. Top-notch entries in the women's event include Patty Berg and Elizabeth Hicks.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPE

Propagating Strawber ries in Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Many Victory gardeners will want to increase their present strawberry bed and still others will want to start a berry patch when they realize the many advantages of growing strawberries on their own home grounds.

Strawberries have the highest vitamin C content of the more commonly grown small fruits. Strawberries also give a larger and the quickest fruit return for a smaller cost than any other fruit crop. They have the additional advantage of being adapted to either spring or fall planting. Certain varieties of strawberries are everbearing, producing fruit from June until frost comes.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, strawberries are propagated by layering. Runners are produced in great quantities. Only a few of the strongest should be used. Small pots two and one-half or three inches in size can be filled with good soil and plunged into the earth. The joint of the runner is placed on the soil in the pot. It can be pegged down with a hairpin. The roots will then grow into the pot. Pinch out any secondary runners it may endeavor to produce.

In about two to four weeks, when the roots of the new plant have developed the runner is cut away from the parent plant. The new plant can then be set into the strawberry bed.

TOO HIGH FOR YOU?
YOUR HAND may be plenty strong enough for an informative or takeout double if the bid which reaches you is at only the level of one in a minor suit, so that your partner can respond with a bid of just one in a major. But suppose the bid is 1-Spade, or is two of a minor, so that your partner might have to respond with a bid of two on a worthless hand. Are you strong enough to stand that, especially if you are vulnerable?

South adopted an "aggressive" defense against the spade game contract at Table 1. After taking the diamond lead with the K, he led his club 7, which North ruffed. The diamond A put South in for a second club lead, also ruffed by North, and the contract was down. Without those club leads, normal defense would have given the defenders a two-trick set, producing for them two tricks in each minor, plus a trump trick. But the real point is what could have happened to East if the 2-Spade response to his double had been on a worthless hand, instead of on one just a bit below enough for an original bid. Imagine East leading that to 3-Spades and getting doubled. The slaughter at 3-Spades would have been terrific. East at the other table was more canny. Realizing he did not want to commit the side to a contract of two if his partner was blank, he passed, whereupon North and South got into trouble. The 3-Diamonds got set three tricks, losing two in spades, two in hearts, one in diamonds and two in clubs, as trump leads cut down dummy's ruffing ability. So East was rewarded for his sound pass.

SYNOPSIS

KAREN BELL, wealthy and lovely, decides to announce the date of her marriage to PAUL WYATT, her sweetheart since childhood.

YESTERDAY: The young stranger, meeting Karen again, this time on her own beach, tells her his name is Martin Haliday, then informs her he has just about all there is to know about her.

CHAPTER FIVE

AFTERWARDS—for days, in fact—Karen was to remember what Martin Haliday had said in parting when they had met, for the second time, on her beach. He had told her that he knew who she was, who her father was, where she lived, "all there is to know about you." It was amusing and at the same time annoying.

It was conceivable that anyone, no matter who he was or where he came from, might know who Jim Bell was, since her dad was not only so well known in the south, but was practically a national figure. The big house, with its tower, was not just a landmark, but almost a tradition. As for Karen, her name and photograph frequently appeared in society columns, smart magazines, and the rotogravures. But no other person could possibly know all there was to know about another. A person did not know that much about himself!

Certainly Martin Haliday was an odd specimen. Karen knew that much about him. Maybe it was because he was so different from the young men she had known, young men who had been born to all the advantages, to assume established places in the business and social world, to inherit large estates and fortunes. Martin Haliday, she assumed, was "of the people." Not that that was anything against him, but it made him different in her eyes, at least, although that was not all that aroused her curiosity.

There was some sort of mystery about him, she felt sure. He could not have come down here to live in a trailer just to look at the ocean. She did not believe he had come for his health, either. Rather, she was inclined to credit her supposition that he had something in his past he wanted to forget or escape. It might be nothing more than a love affair that had turned out badly. But he did not look or act like a young man with a broken heart.

Oh, well, it did not really matter, nor in any way concern Karen Bell. Their paths had crossed, might cross a time or two again, but otherwise she and a man who lived in a trailer could have nothing whatever in common. It was just that he managed to annoy and amuse her, and therefore pique not only a natural curiosity, but a lively interest. But if she never saw him again it would not matter, either.

Her father was pleased when she joined him for breakfast. It was the one meal served in the big house that was diversified and interesting.

Army Men Make 'Y' Their 'U.S.O.' During Stop Here

Many Take Advantage of Facilities -- One Chinese in Group

"If Cumberland can do this much for us extemporaneously, what must it do when it makes specific plans?" was the comment of one of a large group of army men who suddenly found themselves dumped on the local doorstep yesterday afternoon and made Central Y.M.C.A. their "U.S.O.", as they called it, during the few hours they visited here.

One of the first large groups to stop here in a body, yesterday's visitors, marked by many accents and yet red, white and blue through and through, caused many wonders on the main stem to comment and wonder. Although they were allowed the freedom of the city, except for mess hall, until 9 o'clock last night, most of them took advantage of the facilities offered at the "Y".

May Take Swim

Almost all of them went swimming, Everett Johnson, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. said, and by the time they had to leave, they were as much at home at the piano, radio, checker games, pool, pingpong and dancing as though they made regular visits to the local recreation hall.

"Look at the men," said one technical sergeant. "Their spirits speak for them. When we arrived here, they were mighty low. Now look at the difference. Your people have been wonderful to us. The girls were grand and this is the kind of place we'd like to come back to."

Another said that he had been told that the army invasion was wonderful, in view of the fact that the navy usually takes over in Cumberland.

"Y" Just the "Spot"

A rather serious-minded chap said that the Y.M.C.A. was just the "spot" and just what the men needed for a short stay. "We could ask for no more and don't think we'll forget it all."

When they fell in front of the "Y" to return to the station, a considerable crowd gathered to watch them leave and "it was a thrill to see them there and a wonderful feeling to know that people care," said another sergeant, just before they left. He added that he spoke for the whole group, from the lad from Nova Scotia to the one Chinese among them.

DRAFT BOARDS TOLD TO GET SINGLE MEN "OUT OF WAR PLANTS"

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of Selective Service, announced today he had instructed draft boards "to make a concerted drive to get single and childless married men between 18 and 25 out of war plants and into uniform."

Present Selective Service regulations call for men in this category to be placed on replacement schedules for induction at the end of their present deferments, unless the men are used at their highest skill in a particularly essential job. Stanwood said in an interview that Maryland Selective Service headquarters would make any loopholes in the ruling "darned small."

"We will try to get the vast majority of 18 to 25 year olds out of war plants within the next six months," he added.

At the same time, Colonel Stanwood explained that the recent directive granting deferments to 18 and 19-year-old youths who were in the last half of a school year so that they might complete the year did not apply to students now on summer vacations.

However, the ruling does apply to youths taking summer courses, he said.

TEXTILE WORKERS ANNOUNCE MEETINGS TO RATIFY CONTRACT

A special meeting of Local 1874, Textile Workers of America, will be held this evening in Textile Hall, 34 North Mechanic street, Walter R. Walters, president, announced yesterday.

Special meetings have been scheduled for Wednesday, July 21 at 7:30 o'clock, and Thursday, July 22, at 10 a. m., to ratify the contract with the Celanese Corporation of America, Walters said.

Herbert Payne, executive vice president of the rayon division, TWUA, and other national officers of prominence will attend next week's meetings, Walters added.

All of the meetings announced are general meetings open to the entire membership of Local 1874.

Four Deeds Filed In Circuit Court

Four deeds were filed for record in circuit court yesterday. Property transfers were as follows:

Leanna C. Dawson to Etta Collins, lot near Rawlings Station, for about $200.

Charles L. Daniels and Minnie Daniels to William Forrest Clark and Elsie Agnes Clark, property on Bryce Run road in election district No. 16, for about $500.

Julia A. Willets to Herbert B. Kelchner and DeSta. Kelchner, lot in Middlethian, for about $900.

Howard Brode and Jane R. Brode to Herbert B. Kelchner and DeSta. Kelchner, property in election district No. 19, for about $100.

Western Maryland Does Big War Job

Joseph C. Whitesel Tells Rotarians of Work in This Area

Rotarians got some eye-openers about the really big job that is being done in the Western Maryland territory yesterday at their weekly meeting at the Central Y. M. C. A.

The information came from Joseph C. Whitesel, industrial engineer of the Potomac Edison Company, who described interesting and unusual things in connection with the supply of electric power in the territory served by his utility.

The Potomac Edison Company serves some 80,000 customers in an area of 5,000 square miles of this section, extending to points within twenty-five miles of Baltimore and Washington and including several counties in Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Within the area are several government operations, Whitesel noted, including an ordnance plant covering sixty-four square miles, the foreign intelligence camp at Camp Ritchie, a dog training center in Virginia and the big army hospital going up near Martinsburg, W. Va.

Numerous products for the battle fronts are manufactured at many plants, large and small, within the territory, the speaker noted. Among them are radar parts, tiny precision drills boring holes as small as a tenth the size of a human hair, machine tool grinders, gas mask parts, textiles, chemicals, seat cushion materials, veneering for propellers, gliders and the like; and ammunition factories such as the one here.

The speaker digressed to illustrate the marvelous devices being brought forth by the science of electronics, the strip coal mining on the knolls of the Georges Creek section and the construction of the "Big Inch" oil pipe line near here, all of which are directly contributing to the war effort in a big way.

SUSPENDED FINE IS GIVEN MOTORIST ON TRAFFIC CHARGE

Arrested Monday on a charge of failing to stop after an accident on Winchester road, Francis Harvey, Probstburg, received a suspended fine of $50 in trial magistrate's court in Probstburg yesterday morning by Magistrate James Kenny. Trooper Graydon S. Dunlap entered the charge.

Richard Stroup, riding in the back of a pick-up truck which Harvey was driving, was thrown into a barbed wire fence when the truck skidded on the wet road. He was not seriously injured but received treatment at Memorial hospital for lacerations.

Jesse McMullen, Mt. Union, Pa., forfeited bond of $11.45 in Cumberland Trial Magistrate's Court yesterday morning on a charge of driving without a license. He was arrested on Route 220 by State Trooper Charles D. McLane.

Howard S. Rodeheaver, 138 North Centre street, forfeited $5 bond in police court yesterday morning on a charge of driving through a white traffic signal on Baltimore street. Officer John W. Snyder made the arrest.

DRIVERS TO RETURN TO WORK PENDING SETTLEMENT OF ISSUE

Charles E. Bramble, president of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, announced last evening that three of the truck drivers employed by the Cumberland Motor Express Corporation returned to work last evening, and all employees of the company have been instructed to return to work today, pending settlement of the issues between the company and the union.

Nine drivers of the company struck yesterday morning, asserting the company violated provisions of their contract by failing to pay overtime, failing to pay holiday rates and by paying on an hourly instead of a weekly basis, Charles E. Stutzman, business manager of the union, announced yesterday.

Stutzman, representing the union here, and Thomas F. O'Brien of the international union will meet today in Washington, D. C., with representatives of the company to confer on the issues in question, Bramble said.

New York Ship Camera Club Prints Will Be Displayed at Meeting

An exhibit of forty-five prints of the New York Ship Camera Club, Camden, N. J., sent here by the Photographic Society of America, will be displayed at the regular monthly meeting of the Cumberland Miniature Camera Club this evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Central Y. M. C. A.

The prints will be hung for public inspection at the "Y" for a period of two weeks.

A new system of judging will be tried out for the regular open print contest at today's meeting. One judge will select the outstanding prints instead of the three-judge system which has been in effect for some time.

The club has named Charles Jones as chairman of a committee to round up prize-winning prints of members dating back to five years ago when the contests were inaugurated. These pictures will be placed on exhibition.

Police Learn No More Details of Oakland Accident

State police and Garrett county authorities said last night they have learned no more details of the circumstances surrounding the death of Donald Frederick, 22, Uniontown, Pa., soldier, who died in Potomac Valley hospital, Keyser, W. Va., Monday from injuries suffered Sunday night when an army jeep in which he was riding overturned on a side road about a mile from Oakland.

Frederick and a soldier companion, both from Port George G. Meade, were in the jeep when it overturned, authorities said. The companion, whose name is unknown, took Frederick to an Oakland physician and then fled, apparently to Uniontown where the jeep was found abandoned yesterday.

Police said yesterday that several jeeps were reported stolen from Fort Meade Saturday by soldiers who went AWOL, but they did not know if the jeep wrecked near Oakland was one of those taken.

Army authorities were expected at Oakland yesterday to investigate the accident but state police and Sheriff George Coddington, of Garrett county, said last night they had seen nothing of them.

War Department Gives Dates for the Mailing Of Packages Overseas

The War Department has designated September 15 to October 15 as the Christmas mailing period for sending packages to soldiers and sailors serving overseas, according to information received yesterday by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 from the national headquarters of the American Legion, Indianapolis, Ind.

No written requests from the men in service will be required to mail Christmas packages to them during that period.

The limit on each package will be five pounds. The limit in size will be fifteen inches in length and thirty-six inches in total dimensions, length plus girth.

Only one package will be accepted from any individual or concern. No perishable articles may be sent, and sending of fragile articles will be discouraged.

The War department has pointed out that careful observance of its suggestions will be the only way to insure reasonably prompt service in delivering Christmas packages to servicemen overseas.

War Memorial Group Seeks Complete List Of Those in Service

There are approximately 8,000 men and women of Allegany county now enrolled in the armed services of the United States but the War Memorial committee yesterday announced that slightly more than 7,000 names have been received for the honor roll which will be unveiled at city hall the latter part of August or early in September.

The first board to be erected will contain 7,800 names and the committee is anxious to hear from those who have failed to send in names of persons in the service so that the board can be filled in time for the dedicatory exercises.

In the First World War, a total of 3,209 Allegany countians served in the armed forces, including 2,874 in the army, nineteen nurses, 194 in the navy and 122 in the marines.

New York Concern Will Open Water Survey Today

J. A. Raymond Will Supervise Tests over Period of Four Months

Cumberland's fourth water waste survey in thirty years will be started today by the Pitometer Company, engineers, of New York City, it was announced yesterday by William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

The survey, which is expected to extend over a period of four months, will include eight and a half miles of thirty-six inch concrete lock joint pipe and cast iron pipe from the filter plant at Lake Gordon to the Port Hill reservoir and approximately eighty-four miles of distributing main ranging in size from thirty-six to four inches.

In the survey conducted by the same engineering firm in 1936, underground leakage was estimated at 1,167,000 gallons a day. The estimated house waste was 279,000 gallons a day while a loss of 200,000 gallons a day was indicated in the supply main from Lake Gordon.

Total savings annually as a result of the survey conducted seven years ago is estimated at $17,860.

The Pitometer Company also made surveys here in 1913 and 1931.

J. A. Raymond, of New York City, has arrived here to supervise the survey.

Old B. & O. Engines Are Being Rebuilt

Rescued from the "dead line," every locomotive waiting in the local yards of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to be scrapped several months ago has been reconditioned and placed back in service, employees at the back shops here said yesterday.

In the current issue of "Trains," a railroad magazine, is an article on the B. and O. "war babies" written by Lawrence W. Sagie, art and pageant director for the railroad company.

In his article, Sagie tells how the B. and O. was forced to renovate and rebuild many of its old engines to meet wartime record traffic needs.

Twenty locomotives, some of them dating back thirty years, are being rebuilt in the Mount Clare shops and are now "coming off the line" at the rate of one a month, Sagie wrote.

Rebuilding of the old locomotives was made necessary, he said, when the railroad was denied new engines by the War Production Board. A year ago the B. and O. had an order for twenty-three new Diesel freight locomotives but the WPB cut the order to nine.

Maj. John A. Nave Named Instructor

Maj. John Albert Nave, Beaver Falls, Pa., a native of this city, has been appointed an instructor in the department of military art at the Medical Field Service school, Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

Major Nave was a physician in Beaver Falls before entering the service. He is a graduate of Geneva college and the University of Pennsylvania Medical school. A brother, E. W. Nave, is on duty with the army air force in New York.

Commissioners Reject Offer For Property

Taking the stand that the county could not afford to take less for its property than it put into it, the board of county commissioners temporarily rejected the offer by Tobias Lazarus of $300 for property at 331 Central avenue at their meeting yesterday.

It was estimated that with interest and taxes, the county has approximately $515 invested in the property which carries an assessed value of $825. Another party, from Ridgeley, had previously offered $250 for the same property.

The commissioners agreed to inspect the property and consider Lazarus' offer in the light of what they think the lot and building are now worth.

A communication was received from William A. Codd, chief auditor for the State Road's Commission, concerning a correction in the estimated cost given the board June 18 for oiling roads in the county system during the present season.

Codd stated that District Engineer Leo T. Downey has taken exception to an estimated $20,276 and convinced the maintenance engineer of the commission, who had certified the original figure, that the total sum required would be $13,697.97. Accordingly, Codd said, the probable total overdraft at September 30, 1943, originally placed at $35,938.30, would be reduced by $6,578.03, making a net overdraft of $29,360.27.

A petition for improvements to what is known as Main street, near the fair grounds, was presented to the commissioners by H. E. Wright, on behalf of the residents there. His request was turned over to the county engineer for action as soon as possible.

The body will remain at the Stein funeral home.

Seedsman Get Chuckle As New V-Gardeners Tell of Experiences

Cumberland seed dealers are getting many a chuckle out of persons planting vegetable gardens for the first time.

For instance, Charley Wilson, of a local hardware firm which specializes in seeds and insecticides, tells the one about the Victory gardener who complained that she had no luck at all after planting carrot seeds.

"The packet stated that the carrots attained a length of four inches so I planted the seeds in drills four inches deep but not a single one came through the ground," the irate woman gardener declared.

Another person called at the store and ordered a pound of lettuce seed.

After Bob Llewellyn advised her that a pound was enough to plant a farm she changed her mind and reduced her order to ounces for her back yard layout.

Wilson also got a kick out of the story of the man who made his debut as an agriculturist by purchasing three different kinds of radish seeds and planting them in three different hills properly marked.

"That fellow evidently believed in growing his radishes in bunches," laughingly remarked Wilson.

Local Man Reported Lost at Sea

Stephen M. Goggin, 609 Washington street, has received word that his son, Walter E. Goggin, who has been serving in the merchant marine for the past two years has been reported lost at sea. No further details were given.

Purple Heart, Air Medal Awarded Posthumously

Sgt. Ralph W. Thomas, Frostburg, Was Killed in Action in Aleutians

The purple heart and air medal have been awarded to the late Staff Sgt. Ralph W. Thomas, air corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Thomas, 136 Bowery street, Frostburg, according to word received yesterday by his mother from Maj. Gen. J. A. Uilo, adjutant general.

Sgt. Thomas was killed in the Aleutian area Jan. 18 when the plane in which he was rear gunner collided with another B-24 bomber and crashed into the sea.

The letter said the purple heart was awarded Sgt. Thomas, "who made the supreme sacrifice in the defense of his country" by "direction of the president."

The air medal was awarded posthumously to Sgt. Thomas for "meritorious achievement" apparently sometime before he was killed. According to the letter the "meritorious achievement" occurred while Sgt. Thomas was still a private first class.

Both the purple heart and air medal will be forwarded to headquarters of the army air forces in Washington, Uilo's letter said. That office, his letter continued, will communicate with Mrs. Thomas concerning her "wishes in the matter."

Sgt. Thomas' death occurred when five B-24 bombers were returning from enemy territory after completing their objective and were caught in a bad storm. One plane reached its base safely, two others were later rescued, but the plane in which Sgt. Thomas was rear gunner and another bomber collided in mid-air and both crashed into the sea.

Sgt. Thomas was inducted into the army July 17, 1941, and had been in Alaska since May 1942. He was a graduate of Beall high school and was an employee of the Consolidation Coal Company before going into service.

Frank E. Hering, 69, Father of Mother's Day, Dies in Indiana

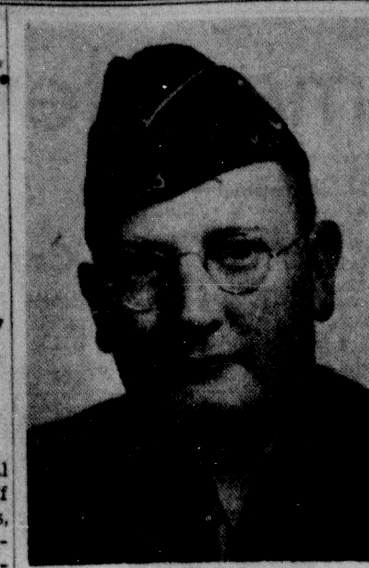

Cumberland Aerle No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, yesterday was advised of the death of Frank E. Hering, 69, former national president and founder and editor of the Eagles magazine. He succumbed at his home in South Bend, Ind., Sunday, July 11, following an illness of several weeks.

Recognized nationally as the father of Mother's day, which he advocated as a national holiday in 1904 in an address at Indianapolis, Hering appeared in Cumberland in 1933 and made a Mother's day address at the local aerle.

He was national president of the Eagles for two terms and founded the Eagles' magazine thirty-five years ago.

Hering was a football player of note at the University of Chicago in 1893 and 1894. He served as football coach and director of athletics at Notre Dame and also coached basketball and track teams there in 1897 and 1898. Notre Dame conferred the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy on Hering in 1898 and Bachelor of Laws in 1902.

He leaves a widow.

HEADS LEGION—Charles G. Smith, inspector for the Cumberland Fire Department, last evening was elected commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion. He succeeds G. Ray Lippold whose one-year term as commander expires on July 27 when all officers elected last evening will be installed.

Samuel G. Graham, linotype operator for the Cumberland Times and Alleganian Company, was elected first vice-commander and Michael J. L. Brady, Baltimore and Ohio railroad sheet metal worker, was named second vice-commander.

PAUPE NAMED EIGHTH TIME—Russell C. Paupe, unopposed, was elected post adjutant for the sixth consecutive term and the eighth time since 1936.

Other unopposed candidates re-elected were Heyl D. Walker, historian, and Thomas Raymond "Pat" Farrell, chaplain.

In other contests, Milson P. Crabtree was elected sergeant-at-arms and Humphrey E. "Hump" Johnston and Will J. McGady were elected executive committeemen. G. Ray Lippold, retiring commander, automatically becomes a member of the executive committee.

237 Ballots Cast—Two hundred and thirty-seven of the post's 683 members cast ballots at last night's election.

Smith became the post's twenty-fifth commander since Fort Cumberland No. 13 was organized in 1919.

Cumberland will bid a patriotic farewell to five of its most recent enrollees in the Women's Army Corp, when they will receive their oath of office on the stage of the Maryland theater tonight.

Before a colorful background of the colors borne by members of the American Legion Color Guard, Lieut. Lee Falcone, of the local WAC recruiting station, will administer the oath of office to five enlistees who will enter the service within the next two weeks.

Taking the first major step in their induction will be Miss Ina Lee Elchner, 811 Edgewood drive; Miss Eleanor Thayer, 533 Patterson avenue; Miss Gladys Virginia Howsare, 707 Princeton street; Miss Mary Louise Dahl, 116 Valley street, and Miss Alice Bevans, of Probstburg.

The ceremony will take place at approximately 9 o'clock.

The colors will be presented by Paul Weisenmiller, Earl Brode, and John R. Kelly, flag bearers; Albert M. Kerns and Benjamin F. Ryan, color guards.

Also participating in the ceremony will be Lieut. Elizabeth Browning Catucci, who will present Lieut. Falcone, Corp. Grace Wilcox and Auxiliary Mary Lorene Huxley, all members of the local WAC recruiting staff.

TWO DIVORCE DEGREES GRANTED BY JUDGE HUSTER

In an opinion handed down in circuit court yesterday, Associate Judge William A. Huster said that he would sign a decree granting an absolute divorce to James R. Starkey from Edith M. Starkey on the grounds of desertion.

Custody of one minor child was given to Mrs. Starkey and Starkey, who is now serving in the United States Army, will be required to pay $25 monthly for the support of the child. He was represented by Estel C. Kelly.

Judge Huster also decreed an absolute divorce for Nellie P. McCormack from Thomas A. McCormack. Mrs. McCormack was given custody of two minor children and directed to pay the costs of the suit.

Myrtle Francine Brown filed a petition seeking a court order directing her husband to pay permanent alimony for support of herself and her two children. No divorce decree was asked, however.

A bill of complaint was filed on the chancery docket by Marion G. Llewellyn against Thomas M. Llewellyn in which she seeks an absolute divorce on the charge of desertion. They were married April 9, 1936, and lived together until August, 1939. Two children were born of the marriage. Mrs. Llewellyn is represented by Edward J. Ryan, attorney.
